

Objective

This year's conference will focus on the role of cloud computing services and social networks in applying EU data protection law.

It will also provide participants with an update on the current legislative proposals at EU level (COM(2012)10 and COM(2012)11) and the most recent case law of the CJEU.

Key topics

- State of play in reform of data protection in the EU
- Most recent CJEU case law
- Providing cloud computing services under EU data protection legislation
- Data protection in social networks
- EU data sovereignty and cross-border data transfers to third countries
- PRISM and data protection

Who should attend?

Officials from data protection authorities, judges, prosecutors, lawyers in private practice, representatives of ICT and security companies.
